

Twentieth century New Zealand was a good place for the son of an immigrant farm labourer. ... If [Bill Oliver] was lucky to be born in that time and place, it is equally true that New Zealand is lucky to have an historian who could so clearly explain how our history has shaped us and a poet who could so beautifully encapsulate those insights.

 DUNMORE
PRESS

Holyoake's Lieutenants was the title of a two-day conference held in April 2001 in the Legislative Chamber and Grand Hall of Parliament.

Sir Keith Holyoake was one of our longer-serving Prime Ministers. His remarkable political life has tended to obscure the fact that his ministerial team included some very talented people who served him and their country with dedication and distinction. This volume seeks to acknowledge that fact and redress the neglect of Holyoake's lieutenants.

Contributors include Jenny Shipley, Bruce Brown, Barry Gustafson, George Chapman, G.P. Barton QC, Carol Shand, Lindsay Shelton, Irene Lake, Brian Easton, Ian Templeton, Noel Lough, Jed Woodfield, Mervyn Norrish, Frank Holmes, Hugh Templeton and R.M Williams.
