

Call for Papers

We invite new and emerging scholars as well as established academics and historians to submit articles on any aspect of the history of New Zealand Aotearoa. This includes New Zealand's relationship with the wider world, and specifically the Asia Pacific region. We particularly encourage topics relating to Māori history.

Here you have the opportunity to be published in the leading journal in New Zealand history internationally. Submissions are now open at <https://nzjh.scholasticahq.com/>
